Summary

Hi, I'm Bhavin Pathak – a Full-Stack Developer working in the AI Department at Meril, where I help design and build smart software systems using Node.js, React.js, and AI integrations.

Earlier in my career, I published 5+ iOS apps on the App Store, managing everything from code to compliance. Today, I focus on solving real-world problems through secure, scalable backend services and intelligent frontends.

What I specialize in:

Building robust APIs with Node.js

Creating dynamic UIs using React.js

Integrating AI/LLMs into real-world applications

Automating workflows and improving software intelligence

I believe great software isn't just functional — it's smart, efficient, and impactful.
Let's connect and build the future together.
